been in charge of the Mission since its inception, and knowing that the means for the successful continuance of this great work and for his support have been inadequate, and feeling also that it cannot be right and just that the double burden of doing the work and keeping his own support should rest upon this faithful Clergyman, or upon any others who may be engaged in such work, and moved by a conscientious desire to discharge our duty in this regard, come before you to ask your official sanction and aid in the formation of a Guild or some similar organization under the direction of the House of Bishops in aid of the purposes of this Mission, and to seek such guidance and counsel in respect thereto as we are well know you can give. Awaiting your action in response, we are
